COMPLETE CUSTOMER SERVICE

Wasatch Product Development understands you, your needs and exactly how to work with your people – start to finish and behind the scenes of each project. After all, clients' established budget, launch date and on-time delivery requirements are not optional. However, unlike our competition, we do not have many changes taking place within our company; we are consistent. We do not have new leadership coming on board; we are established.

Wasatch Product Development's customers are some of the world's largest and most recognizable consumer products companies. They respect our capabilities, product and manufacturing knowledge and know we would never over-promise our services. We do what we say; period. That is Wasatch.

We are responsive to your needs. We do that by consistently communicating with you, proactively anticipated solutions and meeting your needs with experience and flexibility. Every customer is assigned their own CSR and Project Manager. Your CSR is your one point of contact for everything you need help addressing. Your Project Manager is there to manage your account, projects - past, current and future. Both are your "on-call" advocates for every step of your project.

Our partners come to rely on our intimate knowledge of the unique needs of the pharmaceutical and personal care industries. To help you visualize and understand our procedures and timeline, we will provide you with a customized (PFC) Process Flow Chart for your project. That is how Wasatch Product Development begins our rewarding business partnership with you – by making sure you are in-the-know at all times. Most importantly, we want to earn your trust each time one of your projects reaches timely completion and within budget.
